Marcus sent a virtual gift in honor of Undria.

The love of my life. The woman of my dreams. And the best friend I have. I love you and will be eternally grateful for the time we spent together. This isnt a goodbye... This is see you later. I have to admit that I'm afraid to move on without. But I know you will always be there. I miss you so much my queen. And I was thankful to you that I was able to lay next to god every night. I love you SHANNIE

Words can't describe how much I miss my sister/friend. After being informed of her passing, i just couldn't believe it. This is so surreal to me. Undria & I have had some good times. We started freshmen year at Jack Yates High. Even after graduation in the class of 1997, we kept out for one another. I'm going to miss our talks, fun laughter, birthday/holiday text to one another. Along with the Avon orders. We had plans to meet up for my birthday celebration. When I see you on the other side we shall celebrate. 🙏 Well Undria you have received your wings. My prayers go out to the family. I love you all. Cecilia -Cc ❤️❤️💜

From the first time we met until this very day you have been the strength that I needed to love and live the way i did. I thankful to spend a small part of your life with you and even more thankful to say that we were in love for 13 great years. You were the definition of a great woman, friend, and lover. And threw it all in eternally grateful for you love. I will NEVER forget you SHANNIE. I love you now and forever
