Mamie and I worked at HRO. Mamie could always find a way to bond with someone. For myself it was the Cowboys. In a sea of Texan fans Mamie found me. When she realized I was a Cowboy fan she gave me a Cowboy cup which was so thoughtful. She had a one of a kind personality. Most people gravitate to those who know how to help. And Mamie was that person. Mamie made people feel confident that their problem would be solved. Every time I had a problem or a coworker had an issue. I'd call up Mamie and she'd say, "send them my way" and voila problem solved. Rest In Peace my friend you will be missed.~ P. Puente and Family

As a colleague of Maymie, I had an opportunity to see first hand her brilliance, humour and grace. Maymie's brilliance was evident in how she mastered the complexities of a very dynamic work environment. She distilled out the chaotic noise and through her professionalism achieved harmony by focusing stakeholders in a direction which assisted them to an agreed result. Humor was something Maymie deployed with pinpoint accuracy. Whether it was used for guidance, teaching or just a good old belly laugh, she shared this part of herself with us. Her placement of humour in a conversation or meeting was always right on time. Grace is defined as, "simple elegance or refinement of movement." While I'm sure there were days and environments that Maymie had to participate in that tested her to the core. However, her grace in dealing with these very complex issues and people was nothing less than "Graceful". I remember one day going by Maymie's office to say hi. Walking into her office I could see a big smile on her face and she was just beaming with pride. She shared with me that her son was accepted into the US Air Force Academy where he would go on to be an officer in the service of his country. As a parent you could see she was so proud of her son's achievement. The trajectory her son was now on was built over the years with the love and guidance. Not only had her son made a major step in life she had as well. May Maymie's life and memory be a blessing to us all. Sincerely, George Bryant

Mamie and I worked together in HR at the Refinery. She was definitely an original. She had a generous heart and was always willing to share. She had a unique way of giving people names and putting words together. She might give you a name based on what she observed, a play on words, or just because she had a better name for you. There were so many Mamieisms. Some were not 100% appropriate (for work), but they were usually spot on and never unkind. She had a great sense of humor, and I will treasure these memories.

A visit to Mamie usually started with a big smile, a big laugh, and then some wisdom she would give out about a problem the rest of us were there to have her solve. She was a wonderful person and she will certainly be missed by so many here at the Refinery, her "work family" as she would refer to us at times. The last conversation I had with her included her son and potential travel to see other family in Vegas. A typically set of interests she loved to share. Thanks for being the beautiful person you were Mamie, and now you will be able to watch over your family from above and do some more of that traveling you loved so much from Heaven. DC

I worked at the Lyondell Refinery until 2017, then retired after 40 years. I worked with Mamie for many of those years. In all those years, Mamie was always the anchor and "go to" person for all things HR related. While many new faces came into Human Resources in those years, Mamie was the primary point of contact for their learning process. Her experience level was exceptional, and covered all facets of HR work. All Mamie wanted to do was help everyone in need, but she didn't tolerate bad behavior or inappropriate communication. One quickly learned her personal "code of conduct". She and I had many 1 on 1 conversations on various subjects, often beyond just the work place subjects. I know she was really proud of her son as an officer in the military, and had several pictures of him in her office. I won't be able to attend the services because we will be Louisiana with a prior commitment, but our prayers are with her. I know she is a really good place!! Her memorial picture captures her very well. Sincerely, Skip Olsen
